SYNOPSIS: Update as of March 24, 2015: Krystie Stuart is still considered a missing person. Krystie's family and the San Bernardino County Sheriff's Department are asking for your assistance in locating her. Krystie's family said it is unlike her to be away from home this long; however, at this time there have been no signs of foul play. Please contact law enforcement immediately if you know of her whereabouts.

Stuart was last seen on March 2, 2015 after leaving her home in Lucerne Valley for an appointment in Apple Valley. On March 8th, 2015, her pickup was located, unoccupied, in the desert area of north Apple Valley. Investigators are processing the vehicle in hopes of gaining information as to the whereabouts of Stuart. There is no information at this time to lead investigators to believe there is foul play. We are asking for the public's assistance in locating Stuart. Stuart may not be taking needed medications.
